Sight Restoration And Aid Outlined To Lions Thursday

"How You Can Give Away a Million Dollars" was the theme of a talk to the Ocean Beach Lions club Thursday noon by Dr. Seymour Kuntz, local optometrist. Explaining the work of the Eye Bank for Sight Restoration, Inc., the doctor pointed out that the contribution of one's eyes to the bank after death may result in some blind person seeing again. "Such a gift is not measurable in dollars, but a million dollars represents a minimum value for the gift of sight," the doctor reminded the members. The talk represented part of a continuing program of Lions International for sight conservation of which Dr. Kuntz is the chairman for the local club. Any blind person in need of assistance should contact him at his office so that the club can know of local needs which can be met from funds available. Examples of help which can be provided or arranged for by Lions clubs, according to the doctor, are the Bank's Braille Writer, "seeing-eye" dogs, canes, telescopic lenses, examination and other similar services.

The Eye Bank, the doctor explained, is a New York non-profit corporation set up to store human eyes for use in the newly developed corneal transplant operation. The operation which can restore sight to those blinded by clouding of the cornea depends upon voluntary contribution of interested parties. The eyes are removed after death and stored in the bank until needed. Dr. Kuntz passed out forms which explain the procedure for donation of the eyes to the members present and emphasized that he will be glad to provide the forms to anyone interested.

President Bill Stone presided over the luncheon meeting.

Ocean Beach Has Part in Concert Of Choral Club

Several Ocean Beach women have a leading part in the San Diego Choral club of 30 singers which is to put on their winter concert Tuesday evening, Jan. 21, at 8:15 at the San Diego Woman's clubhouse, 2557 Third Ave., San Diego.

Leading the list of local women is Mrs. Clyde Lovelace, the organizer of the club. A little more than three years ago she took the lead in organizing the club and has served as its president ever since. She is now in her fourth year as president, having recently been re-elected. Mrs. H. H. Hartvigsen was named corresponding secretary and Mrs. M. L. Lommasson, treasurer. Three other local women who sing with the club are Mrs. A. J. Cooper, Mrs. J. Earl Sigler and Mrs. R. D. Maxwell.

John Philip Dalby is the new director of the club and Mrs. Inez Davenport the assistant director and accompanist. Leonard Morganthaler, baritone, is being presented as a guest artist at the winter concert. After having his studies interrupted by service in the U. S. Army he is now studying opera, with a view to making that his career. While in Italy he studied in Florence with Nerina Baldisseri, a teacher to the royal family, reports Mrs. Lovelace.

100 Performers to Feature Post Show

Plans for the inclusion of at least 100 persons in the cast of the "Dimouts of 1947," benefit show to be staged by the local American Legion post in March, were made this week by Producer Clarence Dersch. The show, which will raise funds for the building of a Legion hall, is to feature vaudeville acts largely made up of talent available locally.

Tryouts for additional acts for the performance will be held tonight (Friday) at 7:30 in Wallace hall at Sunset and Brighton, according to publicity director for the event, Roy Andresen. Openings in the cast are still available to those interested, but special needs include chorus girls, harmonica player, whistler and acrobatic acts. Anyone interested is urged by the management to attend the tryouts.

Cliff Caves In Causing Local Boy To Fall 12 Feet

Norman Chubb, 14, was badly bruised Saturday evening when a section of the cliff at the foot of Cornish Dr. in the Azure Vista district caved in beneath his feet. Falling about 12 feet, Norman was buried in dirt up to his hips, but managed to crawl to safety unaided. Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Chubb, 1844 Capistrano St., is a student at Dana Junior high school. Although reported as still being plenty stiff from the fall, Norman has resumed his studies.

Of interest was the fact that Norman's dog Pepper, which was with the boy when he fell, remained at the cliff edge and helped his master climb to safety by grabbing the youth's clothes and dragging him over the brink.

Mrs. Chubb informed the News that she was greatly impressed and pleased by the quick response of local police, firemen and lifeguards to the emergency call. An unofficial count of rescue equipment on the scene indicated that three ambulances, one firetruck, two lifeguard trucks, two motorcycle police and one patrol car reached the scene within a few minutes after the accident.

Local Bowl Team Sets New Record For League Play

New San Diego record for consecutive games won in league bowling play was set here Thursday, Jan. 9. Wiley's Cafe team in the 9 p. m. mixed foursome league at the Ocean Beach Bowl that night exceeded the previous record of 41 games in a row by three, setting the new record at 44 games without a defeat. The old record was held by a team bowling in league play at Chula Vista in 1944. The Wiley team has the additional distinction of having never been beaten in this league making their score, as of Jan. 9, 44 wins to 0 losses. The team bowled again last (Thursday) night, but up until press time results of their attempt to increase the unbeaten record were not available.

Members of the winning combination are Vera Near, Bernice Schmidt, Emery Thoman and Dave Herzog. Complete tabulation of bowling league standings through Wednesday, Jan. 15, will be found elsewhere in The News.

The Beachcomber

Seen and Heard:

Report from Graham Rogers that La Jolla has no monopoly on whales. He saw two off Sunset Cliffs Wednesday. . . . Hizzoner Harvey Carrington proudly displaying the birthday gifts he received at a party in his honor Monday. . . . Someone commenting that it was no wonder the whales (usually inhabitants of the Antarctic) were at home here. ("The Beachcomber" doesn't believe it's been THAT cold) . . . Johnny Mitchell able to be around on crutches after being confined with a broken heel and ankle. Rough game, this basketball, says Johnny. . . . Residents of Point Loma district getting the first issue this week of a new newspaper—the Point Loma Light. Our best wishes and heartfelt sympathy go out to Editor Soby. . . . Marilyn Stevenson, Rollin Reed's secretary at the bank, waiting for her ride to work early each morning. (What are these "bankers' hours" I used to hear about?) . . . Several observant people guessing the truth about the "art exhibit" at the Woman's club house, reported in The News last week. As a matter of fact that item which appeared on the society page was news 20 years ago. Somehow it got separated from the "Echoes of the Past" column of clippings from The News' files. (We sincerely hope no expectant art lovers turned up at the clubhouse yesterday to find themselves 20 years late—and that's why we sympathized with Editor Soby about going into the newspaper business.)

Salute of the Week:

To the Clyde Wright post of the American Legion who have wisely decided against soliciting advertising from local merchants for the program of the show they will stage in March. The program advertising racket has been worked to death in this area.

VANDALS PLAY LOW DOWN TRICK WRECKING BIKE OWNED BY LOCAL GIRLS

About the lowest and meanest trick reported to The News in many weeks was that related Wednesday by Mrs. E. K. Shoemaker of 4932 Del Monte Ave., who also reported the matter to the local police. Her story in the main was as follows:

On Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock, her two granddaughters, Dixie and Donnie Shoemaker, 14 and 11 respectively, took their bike to the foot of Del Monte Ave., leaving it at the fence while they descended to the shore line to take some pictures. While they were gone some vandals threw the bicycle over the cliff into the surf, wrecking it completely. The bike was recovered by two fishermen who happened to see the vehicle in the water.

PTA to Hear Talk On New and Better Ways in Cooking

By MRS. RALPH FOLLICK

"Is the meat you cook tough?" Does your family dislike vegetables?" "Are you interested in the new ways of cooking meat and vegetables?" If so make a date now to be at the P.T.A. Study Group meeting to be held Wednesday, January 22 at 1 p.m. in the school auditorium. Miss Ethel Shadow, director of program activities for the Dairy Industry Advisory Board, will talk on the newer and better ways to cook meat and vegetables and also show a movie dealing with cooking problems. Miss Shadow brings many attractive booklets to her meetings which can be taken home as aids in making meal planning and cooking fun.

To Form "Mothers" Chorus

The local P.T.A. unit has embarked on another community activity which should be of real interest to many mothers. If you sing and are interested in singing you will be pleased to hear the local P.T.A. group is now forming a "Mothers" chorus. For further details phone Mrs. Louise Olson, president at B-5490.

LOWEST TEMPERATURE IN 17 YEARS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN REACHED HERE

Some damage was reported by the residents and business people of Ocean Beach as result of a below freezing drop in the mercury early Thursday morning. Mrs. Claude Noorda reported ice 1/8 of an inch thick in the yard at her home at 4525 Cape May Ave. Says Mrs .Noorda, "That's the first ice I've seen in Ocean Beach for 17 years."

The nurseries in the beach area suffered some damage to Hibiscus, Begonia and Pleroma plants, they report. Citrus trees seemed to take the heaviest loss. According to Mr. Wilson, owner of the Blue Pacific Nursery, a loss amounting to $150 was estimated at the nursery, mostly in citrus trees.

Unofficial low temperature here was 31 degrees.

Donald Hanson Is Optimistic About San Diego Future

KIWANIS CLUB VOTES TO SPONSOR BAND FOR YOUTH OF OCEAN BEACH

Speaking before the local Kiwanis club Tuesday evening on the San Diego Chamber of Commerce efforts in behalf of the city Donald Hanson, immediate past president of that organization, expressed real optimism about San Diego's future. He said that the four main assets of industry, the Navy, tourist trade and agriculture are providing a balanced economy and mean continued growth for San Diego.

Industry, for example, he said, is making definite headway. Convair has twice as many on the payroll as one year ago and both Solar and Ryan are also showing increases, he stated. He was introduced by F .F. Swan, program chairman for the evening.

At the directors meeting following, the club decided to sponsor a youth band that is being directed by Jack Wright of Ocean Beach, and which meets for practice every Monday evening at the Log Hut. Keen interest is being shown by the youthful musicians, who now total 22, and they have their own instruments, Harry Masters reported at the meeting. Indications are that the band may grow to at least 50 members, he said. Girls as well as boys, of ages 8 to 16, have already joined the band.

President Silvera of the East San Diego club and Massey Horton of Ocean Beach were visitors at Tuesday's meeting.

Trinity Church Leaders for 1947 Selected Sunday

The Bishop's committee to direct the affairs of Trinity Episcopal church during 1947 were named at the annual meeting of the congregation, held in the church Sunday evening, following a dinner served in Wallace hall. Those elected to serve on the committee were the following:

John P. Huff as warden, Gordon Lilley, clerk; George Pounden, treasurer; Gordon Webber, Vern Searcy, Lee Edwards, William Fischer and Louis Alden. Father Philip Harris will serve ex-officio.

Budget for 1947, the largest yet, was passed.

Father Harris gave the report for the past year on number of communicants, number and type of services held and other matters of interest to the membership, and gave the charge to the congregation for the new year. He expressed the hope that Trinity would be able to petition for parish status in 1948.

Two-Hour Parking Started in Ocean Beach Thursday

CITY INSTALLS TOTAL OF 48 SIGNS ON CABLE, BACON AND NEWPORT STS.

Two hour parking in the Newport Ave. business district went into effect yesterday, (Thursday January 16), the local police station reports.

A few of the signs were installed a couple of weeks ago, and the main bulk of them this week. A total of 48 of the signs are now in place. Twenty-nine of the signs have been placed on Newport Ave., 12 on Bacon St. and seven on Cable St.

Enforcement of the two-hour parking regulation is now in effect. In fact, first marking of the car tires was made Thursday and the first checkup Thursday afternoon.

Plan is to check the cars at least twice a day, the police station informed The News.

The new regulations have been made by the city to relieve car congestion, particularly on Newport Ave., in response to an insistent demand from Ocean Beach shoppers and business men. Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce "carried the ball" in the matter, conducted a survey to determine the sentiment here and acted accordingly, presenting a petition to the city authorities requesting the limited parking regulation.

Azure Vista Child Center Continuance Urged by Mothers

The parents of the children attending the Azure Vista Child Care Center are cooperating in the campaign under way to have the state make the child care program permanent. The parents have been informed that there is danger that the various Child Care centers will be discontinued in March unless the state legislature acts soon to provide the necessary money for continuance. Closing the nursery would work a hardship on the mothers who are now using such centers and those who will be needing their aid in the future, they say. The parents of children not only at the Azure Vista center but the centers in other parts of San Diego are anxious to see the centers continue in their splendid work of providing a home substitute for the children whose mothers must be employed to add to necessary family income.

The Azure Vista Child Care center has been in operation for three and a half years and during most of the war years was the means of allowing 80 mothers to be free to work, report those in charge. At present the school has an enrollment of 20 children of 16 working mothers. This means that for the cost of a little over a dollar a day per child the mothers in the Ocean Beach area can get the benefit of this educational environment for their children. The center provides a setting for character building, personality development and health protection and all under the guidance of trained personnel, say the mothers who have used it.

Azure Vista's center is open from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m. six days a week. The teachers at this school say that this is not for mothers who wish to shift the re-

"SOUND OFF"

Question: Do you think a woman's place is in the home?

"I don't see anything wrong with a girl working if she wants to. It depends on a good many things, I should say, such as, her health, her financial situation, family demands and her ambition. I don't believe one can generalize about a subject of this sort."—Ellis Jacobson, student at the San Diego School of Arts and Crafts.

"I think women should work if they want to because I believe in a woman's independence but a woman should be able to stay home also if she would rather keep house."—Catherine Tiffany, Beauty Studio.

"Yes I do think a woman's place is in the home if she has children. I don't believe any woman can do justice to both a home and a job at the same time. There is a lot of talk about woman's independence but I think that should mean that mothers shouldn't have to go out to work."—Mamie Baldino of the "Sweet Mart."

"I think a woman's place is in the home unless her husband's income is insufficient to her needs. If she is able to get out and help and needs, I should think it would be advisable." — Bruce Widell, Greeson's Hardware.

"I think the woman's place is right where she demands it to be. If she demands more money than her husband earns then she should get out and help earn the living. My opinion is that the majority of disruption in homes nowadays is caused by women being out working."—Lloyd Greeson, Hardware.

"I think a woman's place is in the home if she has children. Of course if she finds it is necessary to work that would be another thing but I should think any mother would rather stay at home if she can."—Mrs. C. W. Ellsworth, Gilbert's Variety store.

Next week's question: Unless the state legislature acts soon to provide its share of money, federal help will also lapse and cause the discontinuance of our Child Care Center in Azure Vista. Do you think we should have child care centers now that the war is over?

MRS. ETHEL M. DEVEREAUX WRITES OF HER TRIP TO ENGLAND IN NOVEMBER

The many friends of Mrs. Ethel M. Devereaux will be pleased to know that she has arrived in England. The following letter was received from her by John A. Titlow of 3765 Narragansett Ave. recently:

London, England
Dec. 13, 1946.

Dear Mr. Titlow:

Just a few lines. I have been over here nearly a month, landed November 16 at Southampton after a very smooth passage, not even seasick but the week after was very rough at sea. The Queen Elizabeth, as you must have read in the papers, had 22 passengers injured. Five nights on the train to New York via New Orleans was kind of rough but weather was good. I stayed 11 days in New York before the boat sailed. Cunard had no berths until 1947 so they sent me next door to the United States Lines and they had a lot of berths vacant. So I came over on the John Erricson in nine days.

Yours very sincerely,
Ethel M. Devereaux.

Bruce Widell of 5035 Newport Ave., formerly employed at the Ocean Beach Hardware store, started working at Greeson's Hardware store last week.

Joyce Dunn of Joy's Beauty Shop left Monday, Jan. 6, on a trip to northern California. Mrs. Dunn will visit in San Francisco and San Jose and plans to return to the shop sometime this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stuckey, parents of Lloyd Stuckey of 4880 Narragansett Ave., left SanDiego Wednesday evening after spending one month visiting and vacationing here. From San Diego they will go to Houston, Texas, to visit their daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Willson, and will then return to their home at Iola, Kan., about March 1.

Governor Against Squandering State Treasury Surplus

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—Governor Earl Warren reported to the state legislature in his inaugural address that the state treasury will end the current fiscal year with "a substantial surplus," and that his budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948, will be balanced.

The governor said, however, that the new budget will reflect higher costs as well as an expansion of some state services to accommodate California's greatly increased population.

Nevertheless, the governor recommended continued tax reduction.

"Our estimates show that it will be possible during the coming year to continue the tax reductions made in 1943 and re-enacted in 1945," he said.

Warren warned against squandering of this year's treasury surplus.

"In my opinion," he declared, "any surplus beyond current requirements should be conserved for two vital needs. One of these is to maintain adequate hospitals, educational and other facilities. The other is to provide for the rainy day which sooner or later comes into the lives of both people and governments."

The governor told the legislature that a 20 percent drop in business volume would adversely affect state revenues by as much as $100,000,000 a year.

"I am as optimistic as anyone about the economic future of our state," he declared. "but I think it is elementary prudence to establish a rainy day fund."

The governor advised against making changes in present tax structures until a thorough study of the entire tax situation in California has been made. He said such a study should include an examination of the respective responsibilities of state and local government, and the manner in which they share the tax dollar.

A social and buffet supper was given Saturday, Jan. 11, at 7:30 p. m. by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Milligan and son Hugh of 4631 Bermuda Ave. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Milligan, Mr. and Mrs. John Clark, Mr. and Mrs. James Eaton, Mr. and rs. W. Turpie, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mullen and Mrs. Margaret Combs.

"There is one case here," says Mrs. Floss Roberts who is in charge of the center, "of a mother of two small boys, whose husband was among those lost during the Atomic Bomb tests at Bikini. She is working now and leaves the boys with us. With the high cost and the inefficiency of baby-sitters most mothers would hesitate to hire one to come into their home by the day even if it were possible to obtain a sitter now days. I believe the nursery in our center is an educational experience which every child enjoys and the training he receives in adjustment problems is of great benefit all of his life."

Including Mrs. Roberts there are three teachers at the Azure Vista center. Mrs. Dorothy Scott and Mrs. Ann Huffer are the two assistants and also on the staff is a cook and a housekeeper. Twice a week a trained nurse comes to the school, giving each child a complete physical check up. "This check up along with the daily entrance examination given to each child keeps our health record high," announces Mrs. Roberts, "and the teachers seldom find it necessary to use the isolation method because of swollen tonsils or sniffles."

The building is warm and so situated that it not only has a fine view of the ocean where the children can watch the ships go by but the rooms are sunny and warm on cool days because of the advantageous location of the large windows. A playground seen from the nursery door furnishes ample equipment for the children's playtime on sunny days.

SENATOR KRAFT NAMED ON SEVERAL IMPORTANT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES

State Senator Fred H. Kraft, Ocean Beach property owner, has been named to several highly important committees during the opening sessions of the state legislature. Of especial interest is Kraft's appointment as vice-chairman of the Committee on Public Health and Safety. This is the committee that will handle Governor Earl Warren's highly controversial compulsory health insurance bill. Senator Kraft is an avowed opponent of this measure and has indicated that he will attempt to kill the proposal in committee.

Kraft also was named to the Rules committee, the Committee on Business and Professions, the Committee on Elections and the Committee on Financial Institutions.

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I: Spratt Herlong was a major producer of motion pictures. He called Elizabeth, his wife, to join him at lunch. Elizabeth knew that something was not going right at the studio and that her husband desired her presence, more to talk to her than to receive any real assistance.

CHAPTER II: At the start of World War I, Elizabeth had married. Her husband soon sailed for France and later was reported killed in action. Spratt was her second husband. This memory always returned when she thought of Dick going to war.

CHAPTER III: Spratt phones Elizabeth that he is bringing Kessler, one of his new writers, for dinner the following night. Kessler, a German refugee who had been injured in the first war, was, unknown to the Herlongs, Elizabeth's first husband.

CHAPTER IV: Elizabeth had been orphaned as a baby and raised by her aunt and uncle in Tulsa. She had been sent away to college, but during one summer vacation she went out to the country club to swim. There she had met Arthur Kittredge.

CHAPTER V: Elizabeth and Arthur had many dates the following days—swimming, dancing and hiking. They found that they were meant for each other, and despite all objections were married. Then the United States entered the war, and Arthur enlisted. After less than a year of married life, Arthur was off to the war. Then came the wire that Arthur was killed in action.

CHAPTER IX: Spratt was delayed for dinner. Cherry and Dick had invited Julia and Pudge, and were anxious to be off on a date. Elizabeth informed them that Kessler and his daughter would be there for dinner the following night and that Dick would have to entertain Kessler's daughter after dinner.

despair, Arthur became to him a symbol of the world's wreckage. If this shattered American could come back, there was hope. The damage of the war was done to the world as it was done to Arthur, but if Arthur could be made to go on, could be made to want to go on, there was a reason for living. By this time Jacoby was not sure that there was. But he was going to find out.

Arthur still hated him. He had ceased to doubt that Jacoby meant exactly what he said: Jacoby was not going to let him die, but was going to restore as much as he could of what had been lost. That there was so much he could not restore made no difference to his eagerness. Much of the work was necessarily experimental. "But it's the sort of experiment he looks for," Arthur told himself bitterly. "It's not often he finds a patient who simply can't be any worse off, no matter how many mistakes he makes. When he gets one like that he gives him the works. One man is better than a thousand guinea pigs. I can see the reasoning. Only I never thought of its happening to me."

When he did have a chance to talk to Arthur again, Jacoby's difficulty with the language was so great that he could tell him very little. But after many attempts he managed to say,

"When you were begging me to let you alone, I was trying to make sure you would keep your right arm. Believe me, Kitt, if you had lost both arms, or if there had been blindness with all the rest, I should have done what you asked me."

Arthur said angrily, "Why don't you do it now?"

Jacoby gave him a look of real surprise. "Do you still want me to?"

"Yes. I do not want to be a subject for vivisection."

"Kitt, do you still think that is what I am doing to you?"

"You know it is."

Jacoby shook his head. He fumbled for words. He said, "I watched you for many days. I fought a battle. I cannot say it well. Perhaps in English I cannot say it at all. You are a man, Kitt, but also you are mankind. You must live. You must want to live. You must—do you understand me?" He spoke so intensely that he was almost fierce. "Kitt," he exclaimed, "let us try!"

Though he did not realize it then, Arthur remembered later that his own resistance was gradually being worn away by the power of Jacoby's determination. As time went on, he came to recognize the enthusiasm Jacoby was feeling. He had felt it himself when there was some almost impossible job to be tackled. "If I can do this, I can do anything." He knew what it meant to roll up his sleeves, saying that.

What he did not realize at the time was that this was not what Ja-

For after all, even after years of labor and pain, even with the highest success, what was the utmost Jacoby could give him? Power to use his right arm; power to sit up and write a letter; possibly, after a long time, power to hobble from place to place with a crutch. Power to look on hopelessly while healthy men and women went ahead with their healthy affairs, doing useful work and enjoying the rewards of it. Not even Jacoby's genius could restore him the sense of knowing he could take care of himself no matter what happened, the old happy forthrightness of being able to look the whole world in the face and tell it to get out of his way. Jacoby could never restore him his marriage. He could never give Elizabeth the children she wanted, or even the security and companionship she had had with him. Lying in a helpless huddle on his cot in the intervals of being fed and washed by strange hands, Arthur had nothing to do but look ahead into the sort of life-sentence he would be giving her if he let Jacoby communicate with her. No doubt he had been reported missing in action. When they found him, the Red Cross would have means of notifying Elizabeth he was still alive. After the war, as soon as Jacoby had repaired him sufficiently to make it possible for him to go home, he would have to go.

And then? Elizabeth would offer him everything she had. She was too loyal, and she loved him too much, to dream of doing otherwise. She would work, and use everything she could earn for his support. She would spend her life nursing him, amusing him, taking care of him, himself a broken wreck of a creature who could give her nothing in return except a doglike gratitude. Her splendid vitality would be spent in a twilight of half-living until she was dry and withered like fruit that had been broken off the tree before it had had a chance to ripen. As he thought of it he knew more and more surely that no matter what would become of him, he could not let this happen to her.

His decision was not entirely unselfish. Arthur was too clear-headed to imagine it was. Not only could he not do this to Elizabeth, but he could not do it to himself. Bearing his tragedy alone would be easier than requiring her to share it.

He knew, almost as if he were with her, what she would suffer at being told of his death. But that would not last forever, though at the time she would undoubtedly think it was going to. She would pick up the broken pattern of her life and set about putting it together again. Elizabeth was young, vital, alert, and there would be another man who would find her as lovable as he had found her. She would have again the sort of mating she should have. He tried instinctively to clench his fist with decision, and the pain that went like a bayonet-thrust into his shoulder, reminding him that he was not even able to make such a simple gesture, served to strengthen his resolve. When a man dies, he told himself, with more fierceness in his mind since there could be none in his body, it is like taking a teaspoonful of water out of a river. The water closes up, it is gone, and after an instant, nobody notices it any more.

When Jacoby came in again, Arthur told him what he had decided to do. He had to speak slowly, repeating often and waiting until Jacoby's intelligence had limped through to comprehension. The effort to make Jacoby understand took his attention away from the bleak import of what he was saying.

"I will make you a promise, Jacoby, if you will do one thing for me. Do it, and come back and tell me you have done it."

"I understand you. Go ahead."

"When I was brought in here, you found the metal tag of identification? And other things, maybe? Take those to the International Red Cross. Tell them your stretcher-bearers brought in an American who died of his wounds. You do not know his name. But you took these objects from his body. You will sign a death certificate, or whatever you have to sign. The American army will take care of the rest. If you will do this, and bring me some sort of proof that you have done it, I promise you that

Local Jr. Women Praised for County Luncheon Held Here

The Ocean Beach Junior Woman's club was hostess to the Junior Women's clubs of this county Saturday, Jan. 11 for what all acclaimed to be the best luncheon of its kind they have ever had. The Juniors report they are greatly indebted to Mrs. Lloyd N. Davis, president of the Senior Woman's club of Ocean Beach, who planned the menu and directed the cooking and serving of same. Those assisting Mrs. Davis in the kitchen and with the serving were the following Junior women: Dorothy Sprungman, Anne Tokar, Larea Moore, Bettie Lou Sjoberg, Hazel Coombs, Billie Dennison, Marian Gentles, Irene Branch, Catherine Smith and Beth Gregory.

Pacific Beach Juniors supplied the table decorations featuring palm trees down the center of the table, made of crepe paper, and small bathing girl dolls with sand and sea shells placed around them.

Mrs. Thelma Davee, president of the County Juniors, presided and a very interesting meeting followed the luncheon. Barbara June Reynolds offered selections on the Marimba for the musical portion of the program, and Mrs. Breed gave the main talk.

Ocean Beach members received special recognition for their promptness in picking up the files for addressing the Easter seal envelopes for the Crippled Children's Society. This project is saving the Society a good many dollars, and all the Junior Women from the various clubs of county are donating their time for this work, according to report made at the meeting. Ocean Beach has completed 4000 to date and are offering to take one extra file, in that they have more typists among their members than some of the other County groups. The work has been done in the homes of individuals as well as an evening spent at the Sand-Oster Clinic, where they generously offered the use of their typewriters for accomplishing some of the work.

Plans were discussed at the luncheon for the Valentine dance which will be held at the El Cortez hotel, with Mayor Harley Knox and his wife, as well as other San Diego notables expecting to attend.

COMMUNITY ACTION IN 1947

Ocean Beach made real progress in 1946. As noted in The News, Jan. 3 issue, new buildings in our community totaled at least $1,000,000 last year. Already this year, more new residences than at any time in 1946 are under construction. Indications are that this new year will witness the construction of hundreds of new dwellings in this area. Building of business structures featured 1946. The business districts here are now fairly well supplied with store buildings, though it is still a question whether the supply has caught up with the demand.

As result of the many new business houses established the past year, Ocean Beach area more than ever is a complete shopping center. No longer is it necessary for our folks to make the trip downtown and fight the traffic there, and waste valuable time seeking places to park.

Because of the outstanding growth in construction in 1946 more than ever has Ocean Beach become a distinct community. That being the case the time is ripe for community action.

Through the Chamber of Commerce a real community spirit has been established. The new recreation center to open in the near future has added and will add materially to the community spirit. The service clubs and other civic organizations are more than ever contributing their share of community spirit.

The one outstanding project that requires unity of action here is beach improvement. Our beach is still more or less "in the raw" so to speak. Much needs to be done. How much can be done in 1947 will depend on how effectively the community gets together in its various civic organizations. While the Chamber of Commerce likely heads the list through which unity of action should be carried out, both the Kiwanis and the Lions clubs, the Ocean Beach Woman's club, the American Legion Post and Auxiliary and the Junior Woman's club can be of considerable help in pushing the matter of beach improvement.

Three things stand out in the beach improvement project. One, is to see that the beach is kept clean and sanitary. Two, that it be tied in with the Mission Bay development, now under way. Three, that sufficient pressure be brought to bear on the city administration to see a start made on resumption of the Del Monte fishing pier construction.

The Chamber of Commerce, we are certain, will welcome constructive suggestions particularly on beach improvement in 1947.

With all the community agencies mentioned working together, this new year can be made to mean one of outstanding community progress.

1947 AUTO LICENSES

The registration of motor vehicles in California this year is expected to be the heaviest in history. The registration period extends to midnight of February 4.

Be sure to apply for your license plates before that time, otherwise you will have to pay a penalty. The tax this year is the same as last and the amount appears in the lower lefthand corner of your "white slip."

In order to register for your plates either take your white slip or mail it to the nearest office of the California Department of Motor Vehicles along with a check such as a bank money order (personal checks not acceptable unless certified) for the exact amount of the fee.

Your new 1947 plates will be mailed to you. Due to the steel shortage there will be some delay in delivering them. Once you've registered, however, it won't matter how long it takes to get them.

Remember, February 4 is the deadline. Better apply for your plates today.

Masonic Lodge Progresses

Peninsula Lodge No. 620, F. and A. M., the Beach District Masonic lodge, meeting in the Peninsula Masonic Hall, 5019 Newport Ave., has been entered upon its third year with every promise of real progress. The roster of officers for the current year includes Donald J. Spencer, worshipful master; Fred W. Reid, senior warden; Charles H. Peltcher, junior warden; William H. Rabsahl, treasurer; Franklin A. Plank, secretary; Turner B. Kline, senior deacon; Edward F. Hastings, junior deacon; Milton Schachtebeck, marshal; George W. McBride, senior steward; William Nelson, junior steward; Lee Baxter, chaplain, and John T. Sweeney, tyler.

C. of C. Gets Together

A most enjoyable get-together dinner was held by the directors of the Ocean Beach Chamber of Commerce and their friends at Alligator Rock Lodge Tuesday evening. Attendance was good and spirit fine, according to Franklin A. Plank, president. Mr. Plank also stated that the occasion was so much of a success that he hoped it might become a regular feature on the program of the organization.

Legion Post in Prospect

A movement is well under way for the establishment of an American Legion post in Ocean Beach, full particulars of which will be given in these columns upon the perfection of the organization.

Prepare to Pave Cable St.

Preliminary work is under way for the paving of Cable St. from West Point Loma Blvd. to Orchard Ave., greatly improving that thoroughfare from end to end. Workmen of the San Diego Consolidated Gas & Electric Company are busy laying gas mains. Other modern improvements will be rushed for the early commencement of the paving program. It is hoped and understood by those directly interested that the block on West Point Loma Blvd. from Cable to Bacon St. will be paved at the same time, giving a continuous connection with the coast highway.

Mr. and Mrs. James Miltenberger have moved from Del Monte Ave. to 4925 Cape May Ave.

Woman's Club Has Exhibit

An interesting exhibit of paintings and photos and an instructive talk on art was enjoyed by members of the Woman's club and their guests at a well-attended meeting last Thursday afternoon.

STATE COLLEGE NEWS

(By Claire Hollobaugh)

Extra-curricular activities are at a low ebb with finals coming upon us in just five days, and most Aztecs are bogged down under encyclopedias, term papers and dictionaries. Still, we do find time to absorb a little of the lighter side of life before finishing this semester.

Here's news. Dick Odom of 737 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. will leave for Alaska after completing his finals. He will join his brother there and take over a position waiting for him.

Congratulations are due Frank Aiverson of 1656 Guizot St. who was recently engaged to Marie Corkins of Mission Beach.

George Claspill of 4660 Newport Ave. has been elected president of Tau Sigma, honorary economics and commerce fraternity. George also was initiated, formally, into Tau Delta Chi, social fraternity, along with Daniel Robinson of 4656 Narragansett and Jeff Hall, formerly of Ocean Beach.

In the Inter-sorority swimming meet held at the San Diego Club Wednesday, Jan. 8, Maryolive Cobb of 3904 Wildwood Rd. represented her sorority, Phi Kappa Gamma.

Mary Jane Brazell of 1054 Devonshire Dr. was in Los Angeles Tuesday and Wednesday on business.

The first Rosamund Decker of 4928 Coronado ever experienced of snow sports was when she went sleigh riding and tobogganing during her recent trip to New York. Rosamund attended several country club formals and parties while there. She also visited Mrs. James R. Grant (formerly Margie Mishler of Ocean Beach).

Ed Hobson of 4361 Narragansett entertained friends from Pasadena the past week-end.

The Phi Lambda Xis threw a "smoker" at a lodge in Mission Valley last week. Those attending from Ocean Beach were Jack Blackwell, Jack Hamlin and Mathew Hegerle.

Walt Marshall of 4611 Saratoga, inter-fraternity representative for Tau Delta Chi, announces that plans are under way for the inter-fraternity dance, celebrating the golden anniversary of the founding of State College.

Muriel Mellon of 4352 Santa Cruz was in Los Angeles with her family to visit friends the past week-end.

Seen at Camp Kidd last Friday night were Mildred Freakly, Carmen Price, Marty Jacobson, Nancy Williams, Anne Carmody and William Madigan.

Ned Titlow of 3765 Narragansett was among the Aztecs who took a field trip to Palomar Observatory during vacation. The astronomy class sponsored the trip.

Bob Wedgwood, Bob Oversmith, Frank Alverson and Zelmore Ball went abalone diving the past week-end.

In the chorus of the ballet "Petrowchka," given at the Russ auditorium last Sunday night, was Mildred Van Gessel of 4963 Long Branch Ave.

Eleanor and Priscilla Ingham of 4353 Montalvo were in Los Angeles recently visiting relatives.

Good luck to all on your finals.

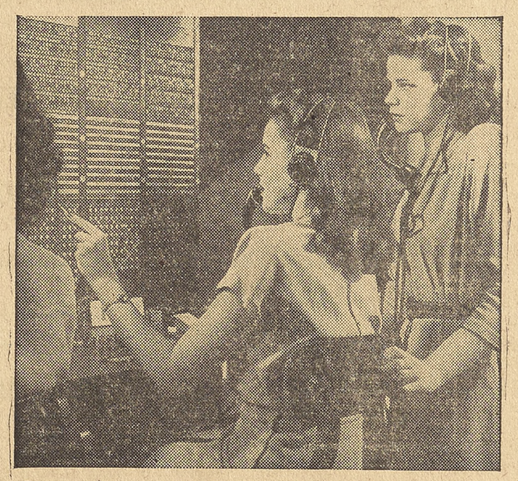
How to teach a voice to "smile"

Speaking naturally is lesson one in becoming a telephone operator . . . and literally thousands of girls have learned it during the last year in the biggest operator training program in our history. Girls in training get a thorough grounding at regular pay . . . a basic course that lasts anywhere from three to six weeks.



On special practice boards like this a trainee is given hundreds of practice calls . . . everything from the simplest local call to a complex string of them. She learns to meet various situations . . . learns poise and skill and confidence. Even when she becomes a full-fledged "voice with a smile", she can call on a friendly supervisor for help on unusual calls, when she needs it.

In the weeks to come, girls now in training will take their places at switchboards, and as fast as additional equipment becomes available, thousands more will be trained to handle your calls. For we intend to do everything we can to bring the rapidly growing Pacific Coast an even better telephone service than ever before . . . just as soon as is humanly possible.

An ever-improving telephone service at the least cost consistent with good wages and working conditions for our employees and a reasonable return to the thousands of people who have invested in the business.
